This study day is developed in partnership with Hospice UK and aims to give delegates a good understanding of what a research-active hospice is and consider the needs of their own organisation.

Participants will:
- Learn what a research-active hospice is and how to become one
- Understand how to implement a research strategy, governance structure and action plan
- Consider organisational change
- Learn about ethics, NIHR applications, funding and university links
- Discuss the practical, ethical, financial, strategic, change management challenges and opportunities in being a research-active hospice

Target audience
Multi professional staff who have an interest or role in research activity in their hospice.

Price
Full Day: £100 includes refreshments and lunch. Discounts are available – check online for details.